That big brown and white dog that suns itself every day in front of the Mt. Diablo garage.

Two pretty girls, both dressed exactly alike, in riding togs, walking down the street well aware of the attention they were attracting.

Wonder what these used car salesmen are thinking about as they sit in one of the "bargains" dozing?

And a chorus of "Oaks eating, three to two."

The display of brand new cars, paint and nickel shining forth an invitation.

MANY VIEW FORCE ON PARADE

Richmond's finest yesterday passed in review before hundreds of citizens and Richmond city officials, headed by Mayor A. L. Paulsen and City Manager James A. McVittie at the annual police inspection in the Roosevelt junior high school grounds.

All the city officials lauded the appearance of the police force, and were exceedingly pleased with the maneuvers.

Police Lauded

In commenting on the inspection Mayor Paulsen declared, "The boys certainly did look nice and their drill showed the effects of careful training. Richmond has a police force that any city might well be proud of."

City Manager McVittie said: "The inspection and drill went off in fine shape, and the boys certainly did themselves proud. Richmond's police force is a credit to the city."

Police Chief Dan Cox was exceptionally proud of his men, and said, "The boys did very good. Their drill was especially fine inasmuch as the recent crime wave has hindered extensive practice. They showed considerable improvement over the 1929 inspection and I am proud of them."

There were 22 members of the police force on review, with Chief Cox and Captain L. E. Jones conducting the formal inspection of uniforms and equipment.

At the close of the inspection, a military drill was performed, which rivaled in perfection, any drill performed by any army corps.

E. Jennings, police photographer, and head of the Richmond bureau of identification took a picture of the complete review at the close of the review.

OBEDIENCE OF LAW URGED BY CALFEE

A plea for obedience of the law was made by Attorney Tsar Calfee last night, in a stirring address delivered before the graduating class of the Crockett School for Citizenship.

Calfee, in his address which was entitled: "The Citizen and the State," declared:

"To our American view the individual is more important than the state because he is a living entity capable of pleasure, of pain, of happiness, of sorrow, of hope, of despair. The state is organized solely for the purpose of guaranteeing to the individual the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Duties Told

The state, Calfee declared owes to the individual protection of life, limbs, personal safety and property; protection of the home; protection of work; protection against foreign invasion and the freedom of education and economic freedom.

In turn, Calfee declared, the individual owes the state: "First—obedience to the law, loyalty, not only in times of great emergency but in times of great peace; second—loyalty to the state; third—loyalty to the government which means as well, submitting to the will of the majority. This leads to the second duty."

"Second—Obedience to law. This does not mean that if we believe a law is not good we are not bound to say so. We are free to try every honorable, legitimate method to get a law repealed or changed, but as long as it remains the law, we are bound to obey it. When each individual demands for himself the right to say which laws he will and will not obey, our democracy is doomed."

Later, he said "It is your duty to constantly work against those insidious forces which try to control our government through the power of influence or of wealth for

CITY LAUDED IN RADIO TALK

Richmond has the right to look forward to a large growth in population and prosperity in the immediate future, according to an outline of the city plans by P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber of commerce, speaking last night over station KROW in Oakland.

Sanford said in part: "For some years the city of Richmond has been in the public eye as one of the outstanding industrial communities of the west. It is now apparent that the achievements of the past are to be outdone by the accomplishments of the immediate future. The city can look forward definitely to an additional industrial employment of over 3000 men within the next twelve months."

This huge increase in payroll is to be brought about by the employment of workers in the new Ford assembling plant and in the Filice and Perrelli cannery. The cannery is now completed and will operate this season. Actual construction of the Ford plant has not yet started but all the preliminary work such as testing for foundations has been done and plans are now being completed. We have every reason to believe that Henry Ford will begin making his $5,000,000 investment in Richmond in the next few weeks.

Negotiations are under way for other large industries to locate in Richmond, the details of which cannot at present be disclosed. These developments make Richmond people highly optimistic as to the immediate future.

"Richmond is already the home of the Standard Oil company, one of the largest oil refineries in the world, the Certain-teed Products corporation, the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, the Pullman Works, the Santa Fe shops and many other important industries employing approximately

SUSPENDED SENTENCES HIT BY WEBB IN RULING

In an opinion submitted by General U. S. Webb, it was declared yesterday that trial judges granting suspended sentences to those found guilty of a criminal offense without first referring the case to a probation officer, are acting in violation of the law as amended in 1929.

As Webb interprets the ruling, there are no conditions under which a judge may suspend a prisoners' sentence until a probation has investigated the matter and made a written recommendation to the court.

"The matters to be inquired into by the probation officer and to be reported to the court are the circumstances surrounding the crime and the defendant and his prior record," the opinion reads.

"The report of the probation officer is required to be in writing and must show the facts found upon his investigation. These reports and recommendations must be filed with the clerk of the court as a record in the case. The matter is then heard in the presence of the defendant."

Police, Firemen In Search For Missing Judge

The search for Superior Judge Edward W. Engs, Oakland jurist, shifted to Richmond Annex last night.

For more than five hours, hundreds of policemen, firemen and citizens combed the marsh lands and the vacant lots that are knee high in grass, searching for the missing jurist.

At midnight the search was abandoned until daybreak. At that time, additional men will be enlisted in the search.

A number of residents of the Annex told searchers last night that they had seen a man resembling Judge Engs walking the streets in that district.

The search was given up last night, as police realized that the man may be either hiding or sleeping in the deep grass or the vacant lots.

The first report that Judge Eng was seen in the Richmond Annex district was turned in by a San Pablo rancher, whose name was not learned by the police.

The rancher reported that he was riding on horseback through the El Cerrito district when at Colusa avenue in "No Man's Land" he saw a man lying in the grass. He declared that he did not think anything about it at the time, but that when he returned home, he saw the evening newspapers, which told about the wide search for the judge.

Ma Sen

He then called the Berkeley police, and the search started.

A few minutes after this report was received, an unknown woman called the El Cerrito police and informed them that she had seen a man whom she believed to be Judge Engs walking near her home on Ocean View avenue.

A fire alarm was turned in at El Cerrito, near Ocean avenue, and a man told firemen that he believed he had seen the judge.

Posse Marshaled

Within a short time a force of policemen, deputy sheriffs and firemen was marshalled in the region and the intensive search was started for the missing jurist.

More than 50 policemen from Oakland, headed personally by Chief of Police James T. Drew, 15 officers from Berkeley and El Cerrito policemen and firemen were dispatched to the scene where they met members of the Richmond police force, who had been dispatched to the hunt earlier in the day.

Chief of Police Daniel J. Cox, Captain L. E. Jones and Police Inspector George Bengley, were in charge of the Richmond searchers.

Extra Police Called

Later in the evening a call was sent in to the local police headquarters, and all off-duty men were summoned and sent to the annex district to thoroughly comb it in the search.

Every available police officer in Richmond, Berkeley, Oakland and other sections of the bay region were called to the scene of the search.

Policemen in motor cars searched every avenue and nook; and search police spotlights gleamed as the fingers of light were focused on every point that might have sheltered an ill man.

Search On

Traffic policemen on white motorcycles aided the motor police in the search.

Other policemen tramped thru the high grass, flashlights in hand.

The city and county-wide hunt was instituted when Mrs. Engs notified police that the judge had gone from the house early in the morning, after a night's illness, and had failed to return.

Judge Engs had been conducting a trial of three former deputy sheriffs and an asserted bootlegger for charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with the alleged payment of protection money for stills.

Trials Over

The trial was concluded yesterday when Judge Lincoln Church appointed to hear the verdict, in the absence of Judge Engs, listened to a jury which pronounced all four defendants guilty on the count of conspiracy, but not guilty on direct bribery charges.

Sentence will be passed Tuesday, upon which day William Parker, former street commissioner, and John Garbutt, paving man, also appear before Judge Fred V. Wood for sentence for conspiracy in connection with the paving graft.

Defendants in the liquor graft trial, held before Judge Engs, and now convicted by the jury, were: J. J. Collier, A. R. Shurtleff and J. C. Davis, former deputy sheriffs under the regime of former sheriff Burton Becker, and Jack Gardella, Livermore cafe man.

MAN HELD IN JUDGE HUNT

An aged man, apparently wandering in his mind, was being held at the El Cerrito city jail last night pending word from Santa Cruz, where he is believed to have once belonged to the constabulary force.

The aged man was found wandering aimlessly on San Pablo avenue, and it was first believed he might be the missing Judge Edward W. Engs. He was taken to the police station by Traffic Officer F. W. Gilbert, where he was submitted to an half hour's questioning by authorities.

At the end of the half hour, the man became suddenly violent, and attempted to break from the station but was held by Gilbert and Chief of Police R. R. Cheek.

From his conversation, police learned that he may be E. M. Lund, Santa Cruz constable 25 years ago. A police check with the southern city failed to reveal a constable on record by that name.

The old man is being held until further investigation is made by Santa Cruz police.

Lund was described by El Cerrito police as five feet five inches in height and weighing 185 pounds. He wore a checkered cap, a brown khaki shirt and blue trousers.

GALLANT FOX, SANDE, WIN DERBY

CHURCHILL, DOWNS, Ky., May 17.—UP—Galloping along, with his ears pricked up and Earl Sande crouched in the saddle looking around for competition, Gallant Fox, greatest of the season's three-year-olds, spread-eagled his field to win the 56th running of the Kentucky derby before the earl of that name and some 55,000 screaming cheering turf fans at Churchill Downs this rainy afternoon.

Two lengths back came the Audley Farm's Gallant Knight, with the lightly held Ned Q. owned by G. Wm. Foreman, third.

It was a smashing triumph for a truly great race horse which showed he could run through rain or shine, to show a clean pair of heels of the best of his class.

And it was a popular triumph for the big bay son of Sir Gallahad III—Marguerite had been backed down to close to even money—paying $4.38 for a $2 mutuel.

Backers Happy
And how they howled, those happy folk in the stands and enclosures and infield, when Sande took the race in hand, over on the back stretch. The Fox moved out in front, never to be headed.

It was a doubly popular triumph for it marked Earl Sande's third victory in a Kentucky derby, the premier American jockey having ridden Zev to a win in 1923 and Flying Ebony in 1925.

It was quite a clean up for the eastern horse, one of the stoutest defeats ever administered to the west in this classic of the American turf.

"Gone Away" Fourth

William Zeigler, Jr.'s Gone Away was fourth, and Crack Brigade which finished second to Gallant Fox when Will Woodward's champion won the Preakness, was fifth.

Thus behind their own leader "The Fox" the entire eastern contingent of four finished among the first five to pass the wire, a triumph as complete as it was expected. What a horse this handsome bay colt proved himself today.

He was a statue at the barrier, full of run and under stout restraints met the stands—the first time in fifth position. And then when Sande let him run, over on the back stretch, beyond the lovely green infield and the fluttering flags, "The Fox" stepped away from the others.

Two Length Win
Gallant Fox's victory was by two lengths. One and one half lengths separated Gallant Knight from Ned Q. while Gone Away, which saved his owner's entry fee by taking fourth money, was another two lengths back.

Crack Brigade was fifth, Longus sixth, Uncle Luther seventh, Tannery eighth, Brezing Thru, ninth, Alcibiades, the filly tenth, K. R. eleventh, High Foot twelfth, Buckeye Post thirteenth, Broadway limited fourteenth, and Dick O'Hara last.

Gallant Fox, after sweeping past the wire with his ears up—and ready to run another mile and a quarter—turned and pranced back to the little white pagoda, where Lord Derby, whose family named the race, presented the tall, graceful silver cup to William Woodward who rode under the nom de guerre of the Belair stud.

The race was worth $50,725 to Woodward, and Gallant Fox's well anticipated victory was worth a little better than even money to those who backed him.

Gallant Fox paid $4.38 to win $3.76 to place and $3.42 to show in the $2 mutuels which are fairly scorching with recording bets made upon the big bay.

Good Track
Not even the rain, which fell lightly during the afternoon, causing the track to be stiled "good" rather than "fast" could ston the enthusiasm for "The Fox" and his rider. Gallant Knight, the only horse in the money which could be classed as representative of what the turf calls the west, paid $14.60 to place, and $8.78 to show, while Ned Q paid $10.14 to show.

The din of cheers which engulfed the winner as he swept past the judges' stand and was wheeled back to receive the wreath of roses, prancing and tossing his head, rose not so much from the aristocratic throats in the clubhouse, but from the dense throngs in the grandstand and the thousands scattered along the rail in the infield.

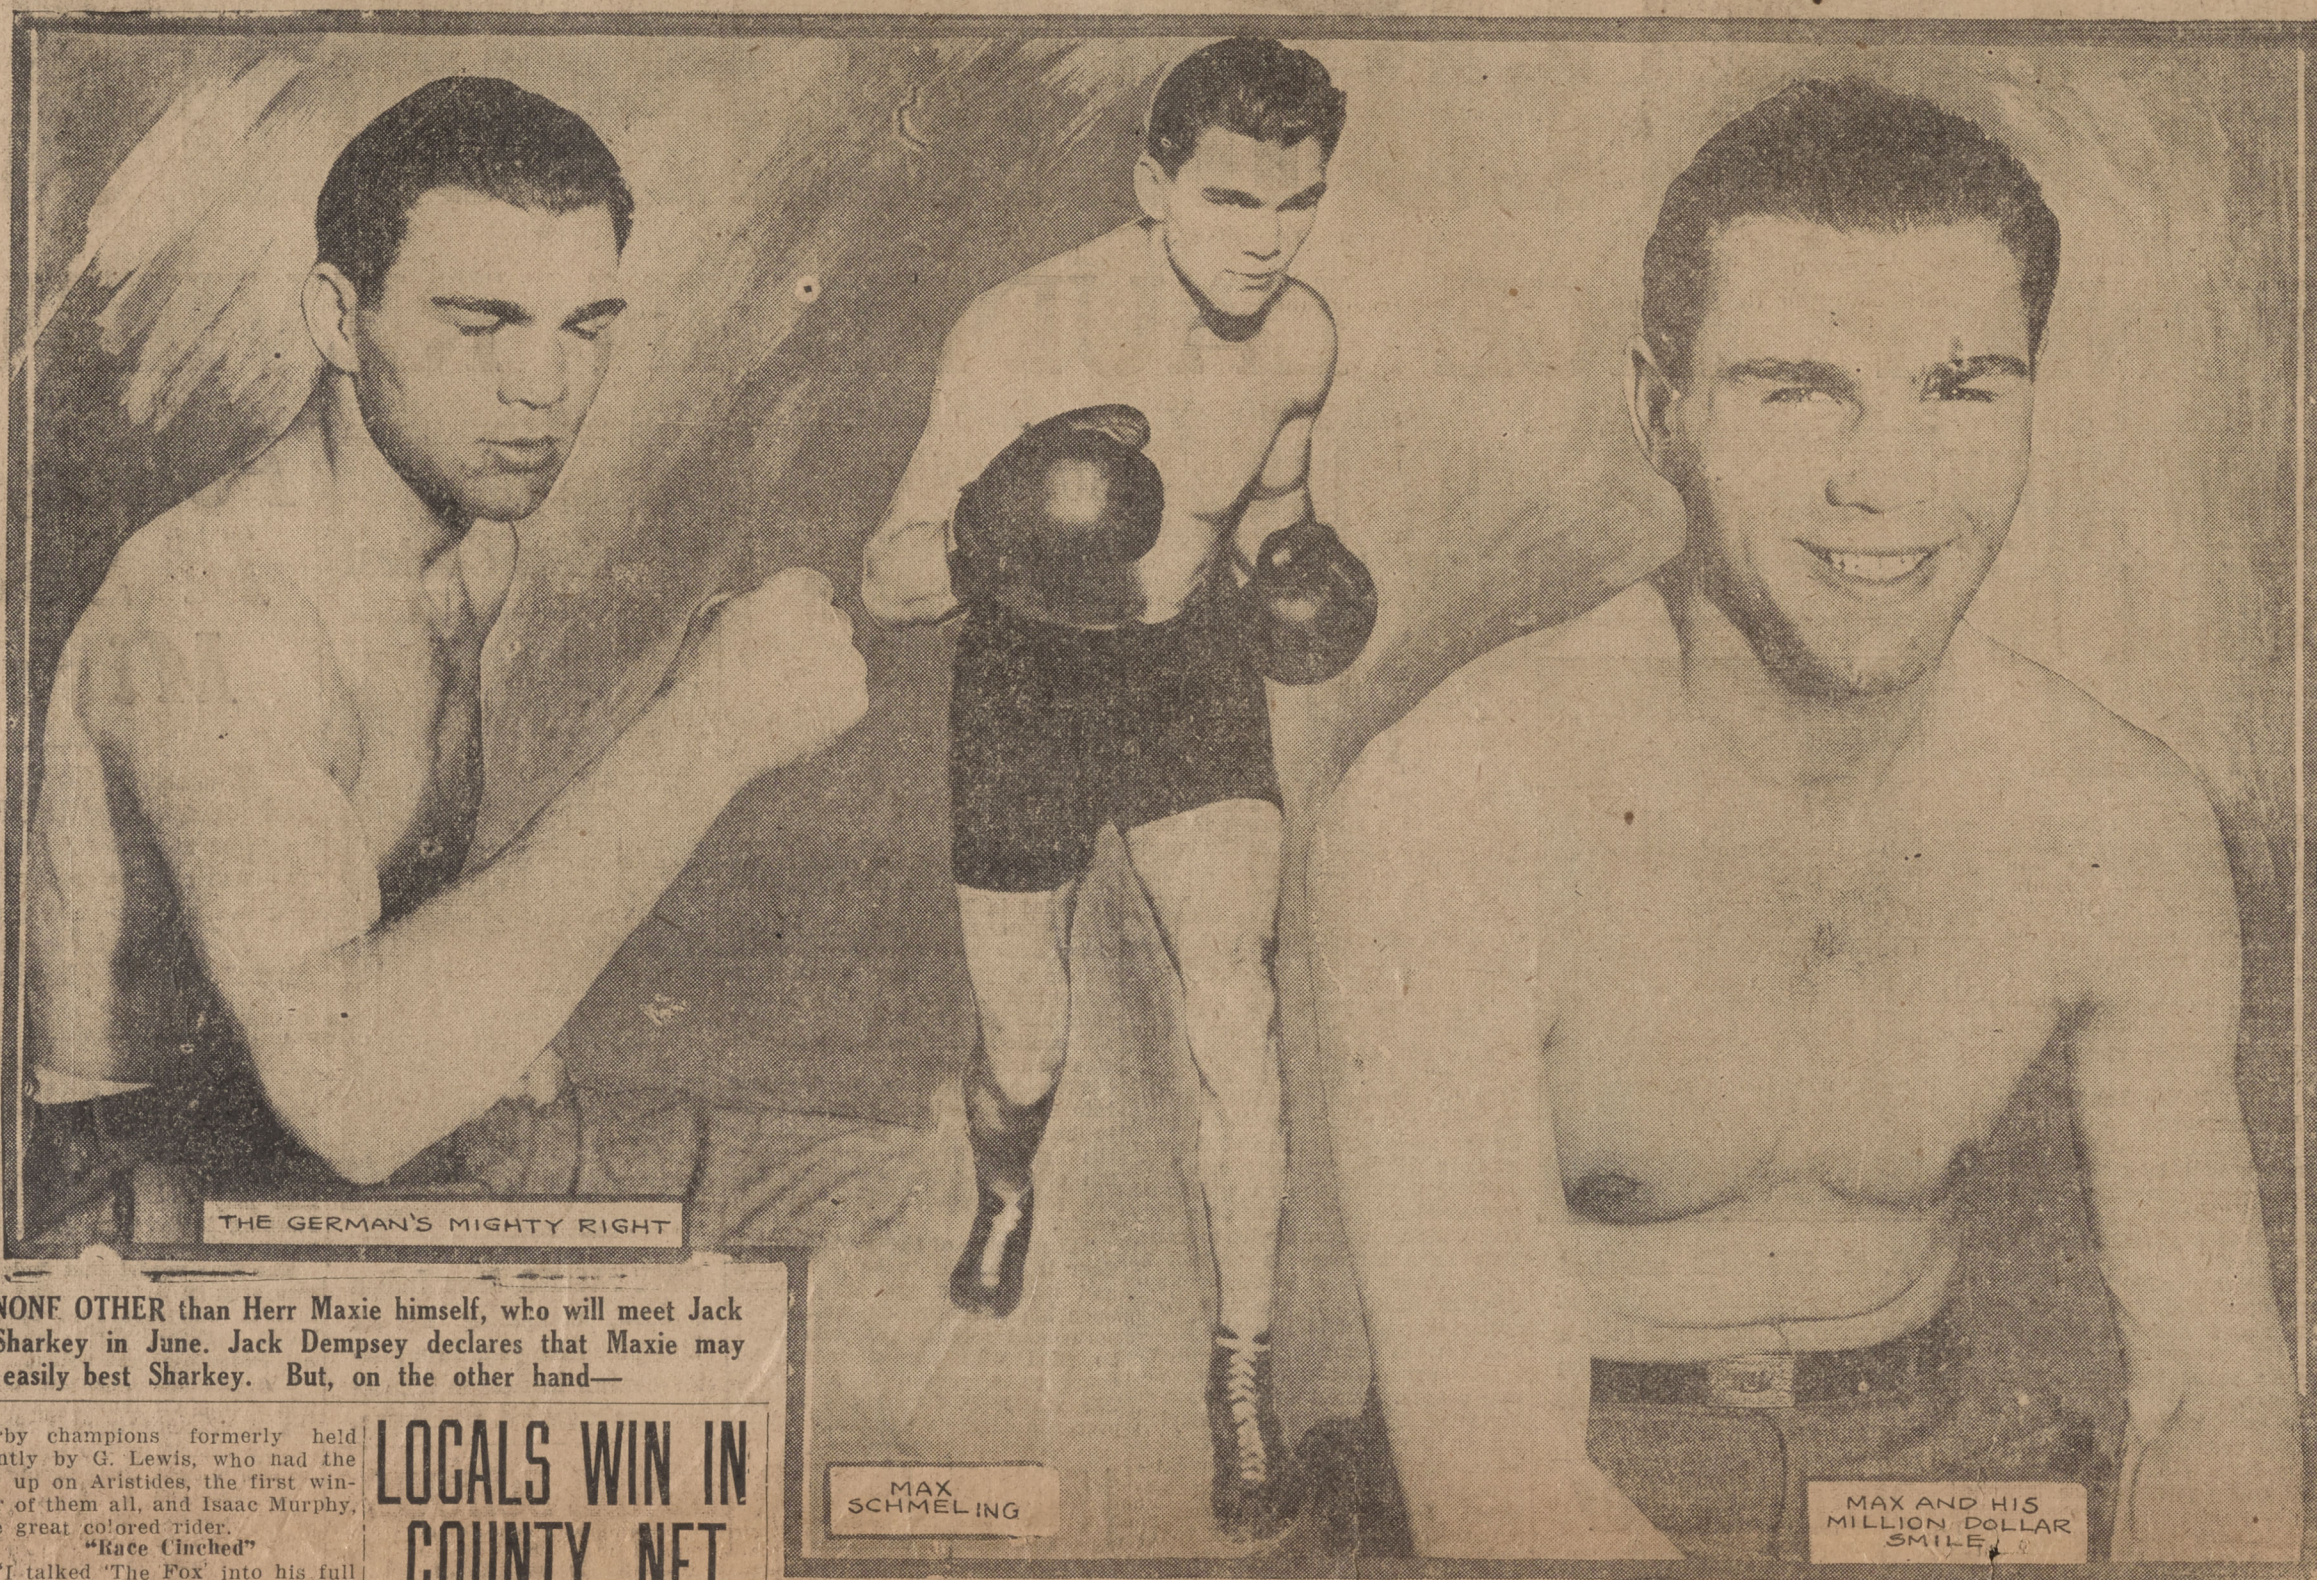

There was where the real Kentucky derby fans were packed shoulder to shoulder, acclaiming the new champion. The victory of a favorite, especially a real "hoss" means a lot to these picturesque Kentuckians who are the real bettors, with the mutuel machines.

Champion
They had backed Col. E. R. Bradley's home bred pair, of course, but they recognized a real race horse and a champion.

There were the folks who braved the intermittent rainfall of the old grey afternoon so as not to miss a single feature of this greatest of American racing days.

"He was full of run and ready for anything," Earl Sande said afterwards, affectionately patting his mount's back. Sande was delighted, for by winning today he equaled the record of riding three Kentucky derby champions formerly held jointly by G. Lewis, who had the leg up on Aristides, the first winner of them all, and Isaac Murphy, the great colored rider.

LOCALS WIN IN COUNTY NET MATCHES

"I talked 'The Fox' into his full stride and told him to get going over on the back stretch after we had been running easily in fifth place," Sande continued. "He moved right away from them, and I knew we could do it."

The race was run with the field of 15 getting away from the barrier after only a slight delay and breaking evenly. L. Jones, on Alcibiades, the only filly in the race, shot her out in front and over to the rail, making the running for the first half mile, after which the filly folded up and was badly beaten.

It was at the half mile post that the race was won, for there Sande made his move and brought along Gallant Knight and Crack Brigade with him. At the three-quarters, "The Fox" was moving along easily out in front, with Sande whispering in his ear. Crack Brigade was second, a length back, and Gallant Knight third, lapped on the son of Bright Knight.

Henry Duffy Reported 'Broke'

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—UP—His assets assertedly "frozen" the Henry Duffy Players, a theatrical organization producing stock offerings in several Pacific Coast cities, was forced today into bankruptcy.

The petition was brought in federal court by Carlton Miles, T. P. Stroupe and Myron Goldsmith, executives of the corporation. Judge Frank H. Kerrigan appointed G. A. Blanchard receiver.

Robinson told the court that the organization had $1,000,000 in assets, but that they were insufficiently fluid to support operations.

The two Los Angeles theaters in the Duffy chain have been turned back to their owners, it was testified.

Following is a statement issued in Duffy's behalf:

"During a period of readjustment the affairs of the Henry Duffy company will operate under receivership for the benefit of creditors.

"The Alcazar and President theaters (San Francisco) will operate as heretofore with the same personnel and staff, and we have every hope that we shall continue to hold the confidence of the public as we have in the past."

The Duffy enterprises have for several years have campaigned for a "clean" theater, presenting many well known stage luminaries in production, notably lacking in a flavor of sex.

U. S. C. took 78 26-30 points. Neck and neck with U. S. C., Stanford captured the one mile relay, then saw Stanford come back in the discus throw, when Eric Krena, great Cardinal weight star, hurled the platter 167 feet, 5 3-8 inches for what, it is believed, will be accepted as a new world's record.

The Southerners took second and fourth and came back strong in the pole vault, the final event, to place two men in the three-way tie for first place.

Stanford trailed the Trojans closely with 92 2-30 points. California was third with 17 1-39 and U. C. L. A. fourth with 7 1-30.

Presented by CARL LAEMMLE

Directed by William James Craft

You've seen them on the East Side and Fifth Avenue; in Paris; in Atlantic City, NOW see them in Scotland, turning over a deal in plaid that will give you more laughs than you believed possible. It's bigger, better, funnier than all the others combined!—which is saying just about all that can be said! SEE IT!

COHENS, KELLYS PACKED FULL OF LAUGHS

If there is anything funnier than a "Cohen and Kelly" it is another "Cohen and Kelly."

The famous Irish-Jewish comedy team will troop into the California theater today on their fourth annual film-making excursion. This time they appear as "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland"—and what they leave undone in the way of mirth-provocation isn't worth mentioning.

George Sidney, Charlie Murray, Vera Gordon and Kate Price are together again in this latest of Universal's uproarious "Cohen and Kelly" series. All are seasoned actors of stage and screen, singularly gifted for comedy portrayals. They work together like clockwork.

As for the story, suffice to say that the Cohens and Kellys, unknown to each other, start out for Scotland with the idea of making a fortune off the natives. They find that they were exceedingly over-optimistic in their intentions. In so touch a spot do they find themselves that they sink their ancient enmity to become partners again.

The picture is studded with hilarious bits of business which sound tame when related, but the treatment of which makes for unforgettable comedy. For instance, the ineffectual attempts of Cohen and Kelly to play golf, their antics when they bet on the horse races, and Cohen trying to talk Scotch, all are extremely comical.

It is no exaggeration to say there is not a dull moment in the entire picture. The laughs blend into one another so quickly that the mirth may fairly be said to be continuous. Given a funny plot and the finest comedians on stage and screen, the result was the proverbial foregone conclusion.

Much of the credit for the literally howling success of the picture must be given to William James Craft, for his splendid direction. Known as one of the foremost comedy directors in films, he had already shown his mettle in the "Cohens and Kellys" series by his direction of the "The Cohens and Kellys in Atlantic City." In their Scottish adventure he has surpassed himself.

Prominent in the cast are E. J. Ratcliffe, William Colvin and L. Whitlock. All turn in flawless performances.

John McDermott wrote the story of "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland," and Albert Mcmond supplied the dialogue.

THIS IS a scene from "The Cohens and Kellys in Scotland" which is now being shown at the Fox California theater.

CLIVE BROOK IN ROMANCE HERE

RADIO

Supported by a remarkably strong cast, Evelyn Brent and Clive Brook come to the Fox-California theater Tuesday in their first co-starring picture, "Slightly Scarlet." These two stars made an outstanding hit in Paramount's first all-talking picture, "Interference." They are tremendously effective in this New Show World talking picture filled with fast action, romantic thrills, dangerous adventure and wholesome laughs.

"Slightly Scarlet" keeps audiences on the qui vive every second. Each new situation is a surprise situation, an unexpected plot twist that's hard to guess. There's not a dull moment in the whole show from the time that beautiful Miss Brent sees handsome Clive Brook in Paris and wishes she could know him. They finally meet, and the real excitement begins. Each has a secret he dreads revealing to the other.

Author and director have built up a clever suspense angle throughout the story. And yet "Slightly Scarlet" is not a mystery story. It is romantic, adventurous romance, in every sense. The tenseness of its situations makes for unusual suspense, however.

Paul Lukas, the graceful sophisticate, is seen in "Slightly Scarlet" in another of those delightful menage roles which have made him so popular with film audiences everywhere. And laughter-provoking Eugene Pallette struts and booms in dress clothes. The cast includes Henry Wadsworth, the sailor in "Applause"; Morgan Farley, seen with George Bancroft in "The Mighty"; Virginia Bruce, a beautiful blonde recently placed under contract by Paramount.

Also on the program is a talking comedy entitled "Desperate Sam."

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 17.—UP—Provided with the most modern equipment and accompanied by two highly trained scientists, an expedition authorized by the International Halibut Commission sailed this week on the schooner Dorothy, from Prince Rupert. When the party concludes its investigations, fishermen on the Pacific Coast will be given an indication as to whether halibut are obtained among the Aleutian Islands or in the Bering Sea.

The expedition is under the leadership of W. F. Thompson, of the International Fish Commission, although he will not accompany the scientists on the trip. Harry A. Dunlop, of Seattle, a former resident of Vancouver, and a graduate of the University of British Columbia, who is now associated with the halibut commission, will be in charge of the Dorothy.

The other technical expert is W. C. Harrington, a graduate of Stanford University, who will be second in command.

FILM FADS and FOIBLES
BY GLORIA JOY
AS SEEN ON HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD

Someone said to me yesterday, "I suppose you know all about movie stars," and being honest I replied, "Of course not, who does?"

"But what about this latest 'Rogue Fad'?"

"Rogue Fad?"

"Yes, this companionate kissing idea."

And then I remembered.

It's just another one of these dried-in-the-husk, seasonal fads that started at a party given by Lawrence Tibbett. Some bold and adventuresome male, no one knows who, decided that bowing stiffly over each beautiful girl's hand was a terrible bore; so he took it upon his broad shoulders to grace every lady at the party with a kiss.

It was quite sensational and most entertaining. I hear that, even yet, the idea hasn't died completely.

In spite of the quaint and entertaining places to go, Hollywood would become a pretty monotonous place for the stars if they didn't pick themselves out a hobby. The latest one which has proved most popular is playing at shop-keeping.

I say, "playing," because of the amusing experience of Catherine Dale Owen in her lingerie shop not long ago. It was a most attractive little place. She went to a lot of bother about the interior decorating.

A number of her friends assisted in this, and Clara Bow designed a nifty little costume for the shop girls. (There were to be two.)

Well, anyway, the store was a knock-out and it became the most popular meeting place in Hollywood for the feminine stars. In fact, it became so popular that it wasn't long before the stars found that there wasn't a bit of room for them.

Now Miss Owen is looking for a new location for her shop. One that will be less accessible for the hot-polloi and sight-seers of the surrounding country side.

Then there is the club. Not the country club or the Athletic club or the Women's club, but a brand new inspiration called the "Mothers' club." The idea originated about six months ago and membership includes men and women of the screen and their mothers. It's quite an exclusive organization and some have gone so far as to adopt mothers so to be eligible for enrollment.

STORY OF WEST AT RICHMOND THEATER

With the spectacular and colorful background of one of the original old time Wild West shows, snapping with action and thrills, and featured by a revival of the famous old western songs, "The Parade of the West," Universal's all-talking production, starring Ken Maynard, opens today at the Richmond theater.

Maynard, in the picture, revives the days of the picturesque corner lot "medicine show" with its ballyhoo and some miraculous "cure all," and the first of the old wild west shows which have become an American institution.

To add to the appeal of the story, which is featured by the thrilling climax in which Maynard tames a man-killing wild horse, the western star sings and plays well known songs of the old west like "The Silhouette Trail," "Down in Union County," and "Sally Go to a Wooden Leg," songs that he learned while he was a cowboy on the Texas plains.

The strongest supporting cast in Maynard's career was assembled by director Harry J. Brown for "Parade of the West." It is headed by the beautiful Gladys McConnell, in the role of the girl; Otis Harlan, of "Show Boat" and "Broadway" fame, as the old-time medicine man, and 12-year old Jackie Haulon, Maynard's protégé in fancy riding and trick riding.

BUICK TOURS COLUMBIA HIGHWAY

With a score of high western dignitaries participating and with thousands of motoring celebrants waiting expectantly at both approaches, the Longview-Rainier bridge, linking Oregon and Washington across the Columbia river, was thrown open to travel amid impressive ceremonies the last of March. A golden telegraph key, pressed by President Hoover in the East Room of the White House, flashed the current which severed the floral barrier which separated the two northwestern states at this important crossing.

Caravans representing motor associations, chambers of commerce, lodges, service clubs and western communities brought thousands to the colorful opening pageant. Among the array of notables in attendance were the governors of Washington and Oregon, the mayors of San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Longview and many other national and state executives. The bridge was christened by Mrs. J. J. Tynan, wife of the vice president of the Bethlehem Steel company, builder of the giant span.

A feature of the opening celebration was the parade from both ends of the span, just as the barrier was broken, of two lines of automobiles in which all visiting officials rode. To procure these cars, the committee in charge of the event arranged with dealers of Washington and Oregon to supply a gigantic fleet of 1930 Buicks. C. C. Kratzer, local Buick dealer revealed.

Operating with clock-like precision the Buick dealer organizations of the two states mobilized their cars at Longview and Rainier, and as President Hoover's signal opened the bridge the two long lines of shining new Buicks moved smoothly toward each other.

The new span will cut 100 miles from the motorist distance between many of the principal cities of the northwest and will bring travel in to sectors hitherto virtually inaccessible. The new bridge has a cantilever span of 1200 feet, the longest in the United States. It is the highest bridge over navigable waters in the world, having a clearance of 196 feet, ample for practically the largest vessels afloat.

An interesting detail of construction is that the concrete flooring made from volcanic cinders found at Bend, Oregon. The material is many times lighter than ordinary crushed rock and reputed tougher.

Record Travel On Victory Highway Expected Soon

Tourist travel over the Victory highway to northern and central California during the coming season is expected to attain record volume, according to reports received by the California State Automobile association.

Advance inquiries are being received not only at the State Automobile association but at the Torpeka, Kansas, headquarters for this transcontinental motor route in numbers that indicate the heaviest season of travel over the Victory highway on record. Inquiries are being received from all parts of the east and middle west and from some foreign countries.

Floor Boards Cause Noise

In some of the popular priced automobiles, the floor boards are not fastened to the frame in order that the battery will be readily accessible for filling with water and the transmission and universal joints for greasing.

When loose, the floor board provides one of the most annoying or noisier. Fastening it to the frame will eliminate this, and although it makes the vital features of the car care somewhat more difficult, it is worth the trouble according to the service department of the National Automobile club.

Consult Handbook When Fixing Car

The man who made the cars probably more familiar with the maintenance than is the average motorist. A wise motorist will consult his handbook of instructions before attempting adjustments or repairs.

Run Car Before Draining Crankcase

The draining of the crankcase, transmission or rear end should be undertaken when the car has been run sufficiently far to raise the temperature of the oil or grease to the point where it will flow freely and so permit complete draining.

Construction of the sub-structure was begun October, 1928. Steel work began June, 1929. Total construction time was one year and five months. The total cost of the bridge and approaches was approximately $5,800,000. The project was privately financed, with an expectation of accommodating 600,000 vehicles during the first year.

Buicks At Dedication

Spark Plugs Are Trouble Indicators

The condition of the spark plugs on your car frequently indicate trouble, according to the California State Automobile association. If the end of the spark plug is oily, too much oil is passing piston rings. If black soot is present, it indicates too rich a gas mixture. If the plugs are both oily and sooty valve leaks are indicated.

Gas Line Often Source Of Trouble

If the engine of your car stops slowly, the explosions becoming gradually weaker until they cease, look for either of two troubles, according to the California State Automobile association. These are most likely shortage of gasoline or failure of the proper gas mixture reaching the cylinders due to dirty screens or plugged gas line.

NEW ROAD SIGNS FOR REDWOOD HIGHWAY

The new uniform standard of road signs will soon guide motorists for the full length of the Redwood highway.

This was the announcement made today by the California State Automobile association as the organization's road signing crews started erection of the new markers at various points along the north coastal scenic route.

The work is in line with the automobile association's general policy of replacing all signs along main routes in the state highway system with the new uniform U. S. standard type. This standard calls for a white rectangle with black signs. The familiar yellow diamond sign is retained for warning markers but these are somewhat larger than the old yellow diamond. A standard set of symbols is used for "slow" and other warnings.

This plan of a standard set of signs places California in the lead of the states which are in conformity with the government uniform system, designed to simplify warning and directional signs for motorists.

The work also includes the marking of the Redwood highway with shield markers bearing the designation "U. S. 101". The Redwood route and the coast route south of San Francisco to San Diego is Route No. 101 in the Federal government system of designating main routes by number. The main valley route is "U. S. 99".

Automobile association engineers have made survey of the Redwood highway for this signing work and signs have been shipped to various points along the route. As the official road-signing agency for northern and central California, the Automobile association spends $40,000 annually in maintenance of its system of 90,000 street and highway markers, which represents an investment of over $750,000, three quarters of which has been paid by the motorists' organization.

Lint Rag Will Ruin Engine

Rags with a lint surface should never be used for wiping internal parts of the motor, states L. G. Evans, director, emergency road service, National Automobile club. One small particle of thread may do no harm, but a general accumulation of small particles may cause serious stoppage of the oil line.

Cam Wear May Affect Valves

One cause of inefficient valve operation that is very rare, but none the less annoying, is the wear on the cams, states L. G. Evans, general service manager, National Automobile club. This happens so seldom that it is quite hard to detect.

CAR BUSINESS GOOD SAYS STROM

Reporting an exceptionally good sales record for Oakland and Pontiacs, J. P. Strom, local dealer, declares the automobile business in general is picking up. He reports sales to the following:

L. J. Austin, Martinez—Oakland 8 custom sedan.
Clark F. Hadsell, 124 South Eleventh street—Pontiac sport coupe.

John Agastini, 231 Twelfth street—Pontiac sport coupe.
H. M. Calkins, 1106 Barrett avenue—Pontiac sport sedan.
Howard Campbell, Hotel Richmond—Pontiac standard sedan.
W. C. Moss, 4014 Macdonald avenue—Pontiac custom sedan.
George Crofoot, Rodeo—Pontiac 2-door sedan.
Irving L. Brick, 980 Bush street, San Francisco—Pontiac sport roadster.

New Oaklands At Bargain Prices Here

Some wise fellow once said "opportunity knocks at your door but once in a lifetime." Now this may be your "opportunity" if you are looking for a real buy in a new or slightly used car. Your attention is called to the display ad in this issue for J. P. Strom, Oakland-Pontiac dealer. "J. P." has several late 1929 Oakland all-American sixes that have never been registered and are brand new; fully equipped which he is selling for as low as $450.00 off of list price. This brings the price down even lower than some of the cheapest new cars on the market. With a small down payment the balance can be handled through the low G. M. A. C. plan, running as long as 18 months if desired.

Strom is one of the oldest automobile dealers in Richmond in point of service; having located here in 1913. He is thoroughly reliable and has sold hundreds of satisfied citizens in this vicinity who speak of him in the very highest terms.

Signal Properly On Turns Or Stops

Don't forget to give an arm signal properly before you turn or stop on a street or highway, is the advice of the California State Automobile association to all motorists this month. Neglect in signalling is costing great loss of life, limb, and money in California each year.

It is pointed out by the motorists' organization that a large percentage of crashes in traffic occur because of incorrect signalling or of failure to signal. Traffic accidents are costing California scores of lives and more than $5,000,000 in money each month.

TODAY, AS FOR YEARS

1929 Statistics Of Cars And Road

The automobile industry produced one mile of new cars in 1929 for every three miles of highway surfaced, according to statistical reports. With 40 cars already registered to every mile, it shows how road-building agencies are being pushed to keep abreast with the traffic needs, points out the California State Automobile association. The industry produced 45 miles of cars per day in 1929, or 16,425 miles for the year, while approximately 55,000 miles of roads were surfaced.

As the heaviest travel is on interstate roads, the association points out, this situation affords a convincing argument for increased Federal aid. Congress has been urged to raise the amount from the present appropriation of $75,000,000 a year to $125,000,000 a year.

Overhauling Of Cooling System

High compression engines are harder to cool, remarks L. G. Evans, general service manager for the National Automobile club. The engineer has done his part in meeting this situation by providing a larger cooling system. On his part, the motorist might well consider having the radiator drained and flushed, the hose connections replaced and the water pump inspected for wear and poor adjustment. If the car has gone a couple of years without a cooling system general inspection, it may be well worth while to have one.

Battery Should Be Kept Tight

Inspect the hood-down clips on the battery of your car, advises the California State Automobile association. A loose battery may cause the ground wire to break, thereby disabling the car.

Apply Brakes To Squeeze Out Water

A slight pressure maintained upon brakes of the external contracting type, while driving thru water, will assist in keeping the lining from becoming water-soaked, a condition which gradually reduces the efficiency of the brakes.

NEW NASH ON DISPLAY HERE

Among the most interesting of the new Nash '400' models for 1930 featured by Roy K. Dorr, local Nash dealer and distributor this spring and summer, is the handsome Nash single six, four door sedan—a car which promises to win even greater popularity among the discriminating motorists seeking fine car comfort, appearance and performance at moderate cost.

A car that will fittingly grace every occasion, and one in which every detail contributes something to its smartness, the single six sedan is longer in hood, in body and in wheelbase than former cars of this popular, moderate priced series. Its straight hood line suggests added power and speed attainments which the car's performance amply proves. The new, high narrow rimmed radiator is fitted with handsome, enameled, built-in shutters, automatic in operation and indispensable for highest motor efficiency.

An automatic lubricating system which oils all vital bearing points on the chassis not only saves the owner's time and the expense of having his car greased or oiled, but also prolongs the life of the car as all friction of bearings is eliminated through constant lubrication.

Mohair Upholstery
Upholstery is done in becoming mohair, harmonized in tone with the body color. The handsome salon body, another example of the fine coachwork which features all Nash '400' cars, is unusually large and has ample room for five passengers. The new belt line contrasts body color with tones in the belt moulding and in window reveals, striking a refreshingly new note in body decoration. From either front or rear a strikingly new Nash style is seen in the superstructure, which starts to arch at the lower line of the windows. This arch replaces the usual body bulkiness with grace and slenderness of line. The front seat is instantly adjustable, either forward or backward, affording added comfort and convenience for the car's driver.

California, with two million motor vehicles ranks second to New York.

Ask for a Copy of Buick's Owner Service Policy

The complete facts regarding Buick service, including Buick's new Owner Touring and Change of Residence privileges, may now be had in a brief, compact booklet, "Buick Owner Service Policy."

Buick would like everyone who owns—or expects to own—a Buick car to be thoroughly acquainted with the liberal provisions of this Policy.

You may obtain a copy of this interesting booklet from the nearest Buick dealer, or by writing direct to Buick Motor Company, Flint, Michigan.

"Satisfy the customer." This has been the service policy of the Buick Motor Company throughout the twenty-seven years of its history. And so faithfully has Buick followed this policy that today the familiar emblem of Authorized Buick Service means prompt, efficient and courteous maintenance to more than 1,500,000 Buick owners. Buick has twice as many owners as any other company selling cars priced above $1200.

Here are a few of the many important points of Buick's Service Policy:

More than 4,000 factory-supervised Service Stations assure all Buick owners the same fine standard of skilled Buick service. A written Warranty, covering the first 4,000 miles or the first 90 days of ownership, whichever shall accrue first, guarantees every new Buick car to be free from defects in material or workmanship.

Should parts or workmanship prove defective at any time during the Warranty period, Buick dealers will supply the parts and perform the necessary labor free of charge.

In addition to careful pre-delivery tests, the Buick owner receives two major inspections without cost—one after 500 miles and another after 1500 miles of driving. These include a thorough road test of all elements of performance.

The "Tourist" and "Change of Residence" clauses permit the Buick owner to change his residence as frequently as he desires or to tour any part of the U. S. or Canada and still receive the full Warranty benefits from the nearest authorized Buick dealer.

ALL BUICK dealers fulfill these provisions of BUICK'S service policy. All dedicate themselves to the task of serving promptly, efficiently and courteously.

U.S. OF EUROPE PLANS TOLD BY BRIANDE

PARIS, May 17.—UP—The nations of Europe were asked by France today to join in definite plans for creation of an economic and political "United States of Europe."

Two lengthy documents embodying the project of Foreign Minister Aristide Briand for a European federation were delivered to the 26 continental nations belonging to the League of Nations and also were made public by the foreign office here.

Replies from the nations are not expected before mid-June but the more optimistic of Briand's supporters hope for concrete results soon and the calling of a European committee to organize the federation in the autumn. They also hope to see Briand's efforts recognized by his election as the president of the union, although the veteran diplomat himself was unambitious for such personal honor.

New Scheme
The mere presentation of Briand's scheme, which goes much further than a mere economic union brought nearer than ever in history the centuries old goal of Pan-Europe.

The documents delivered today provided chiefly:
A political and economic federation working with and strengthening the League of Nations.

Complete equality of all states—whether the most powerful or the weakest—within the union, and retention by each of all sovereign rights.

A covenant to guide the work of the federation as the covenant guides the League of Nations work.
The federation would not in any way be directed economically or otherwise against the United States or any other nation or combination outside Europe.

Briand asked the various nations involved to arrange for a meeting of a European committee to determine the proposed union's field of activity. He suggested such a study be taken up at the next European conference, or at some future date.

In connection with the field of activity of the United States of Europe, Briand referred to such subjects as progressive reduction of tariffs, which have long divided the European nations and hindered trade and good relations. Other activities included hygiene, intellectual cooperation, labor and international emigration, finances, particularly in regard to international trades; transports and communications, with agreements between the railroads of various countries to permit free international shipment; economic development such as the creation and control of cartels or commissions in the principal industries of Europe.

There are 1,254 miles of surfaced roads within the confines of California's borders.

Many Apply For C. M. T. C. Camp In State

Application for enrollment in the Citizens' Military Training camps are literally pouring in, according to information given out yesterday from Mayor General John L. Hines' headquarters, at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The increasing ease with which the C. M. T. C. quotas of the various Corps Areas are being enrolled throughout the country, is explained by Colonel T. M. Coughlan, C. M. T. C. enrollment officer for the Ninth Corps Area, as being due to the excellent reports of the camps given by the boys who have attended, together with the growing number of distinguished citizens who are adding their approval of this phase of the government's national defense program.

One of the latest and most highly prized endorsements of the C. M. T. C. camps comes from Chief Justice William H. Waste of the supreme court of California. Justice Waste, who has long been interested in movements calculated to benefit the young men of the nation, sees many advantages in the C. M. T. C. camps which he summarizes in the following statement:

"I am particularly interested in the Citizens' Military Training camps which the government maintains each year, and to which qualified young men of good character are admitted.
"It is a wonderful way for a young man to secure a vacation under the very happiest auspices. He is assured of a place where recreation is qualified only by a moderate amount of discipline and service. At these camps he meets other red-blooded young men who, like himself are interested in the cause of clean living and public service. The spirit of comradeship and association of the camps make them more than interesting.
"The honor system, so successfully used in many of the large colleges of the country, regulated only by kindly and considerate discipline, is, in my judgment, an ideal condition under which a vacation can be had. Such an experience for thirty days, under the leadership of qualified experts, during which time the young fellows meet hundreds of other upstanding young men of their own age, can but result beneficially to those who are so fortunate as to be admitted to these camps."

GRAF TO START OCEAN HOP TODAY

By DR. HUGO ECKENER
(Commander of the Graf Zeppelin)
(Written for the United Press)

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 17.—UP—I have always considered the route on which the dirigible Graf Zeppelin is scheduled to start for South America Sunday the best regular stretch for regular European-South American traffic, because it has relatively steady meteorological conditions and favorable trade winds.

The main stretch from Spain to the equator is in the trade wind area. This means we have the benefit of a near wind and also can estimate the time of the journey in advance. Hitherto this knowledge has been theoretical, and we intend now to test it practically and to examine wind and weather conditions.

Above all we want to gather data regarding the altitude to which the trade winds extend.
"This is unusually important, because the trade winds reaches only a relatively low altitude, (estimated between 1000 and 2000 meters) above which the so-called anti-trade winds prevail.

"The anti-trade winds could facilitate the reverse flight from South America to Europe. Our trip is destined particularly to enrich our knowledge of this topic.
The second vital purpose of the journey is to inform ourselves of the most suitable place for a landing station for regular European-South American airship service. We expect to decide whether it will be Pernambuco, (Brazil) as we hitherto have assumed would be most suitable.

the benefit of the few, rather than the many."

In closing his address, Calfee said: "I beseech from you, for my country, that you not allow yourselves to fall into complacency, indifference or even cynicism that I am ashamed to own, is the attitude of many of my fellow countrymen toward the ills of America today. There never was a time, I believe, when our country more sorely needed enthusiastic, loyal support for her ideals than today. The forces of greed, of graft of disregard for law observance are always quietly working toward sinister ends and for this reason, I am happy to welcome you who have been attracted by America's ideals to swell the ranks of those who will strive to preserve in America the ideals of government Of, By AND FOR the people."

The program, which was held in the Community auditorium, was attended by a crowd of more than 800 persons.

INDIANS DEFY DANIELS HITS POLICE AT SALT PANS

BOMBAY, India, May 17.—UP—Hundreds of Indian independence volunteers concentrated tonight near two government salt depots prepared to defy strong police guards by raids on the salt pans early Sunday.

Although the government was swift to meet the proposed raids by wholesale arrests in the Bombay region darkness found the white clad native bands marching toward or camped near the Dharasana and Wadala depots. Their determination to force the issue with police was indicated by the division of the raiders into many groups, each of which took a different route to the depots. They planned to raid the Wadala works from ten different directions.

The Wadala depot, 12 miles from Bombay, was the scene of the most intensive preparations on the part of both natives and police. About 300 volunteers marched out from the Bombay congress headquarters at nightfall. They were wearing the coarse, homespun white cloth, advocated by their imprisoned leader, Mahatma Gandhi, and most of them wore the small white Gandhi caps.

Nationalist Flag
They marched in military formation, carrying the Nationalist flag at the head of the column. The volunteer raiders carried food—a handful of parched grain and canvas water bottles.
There was considerable uncertainty in the ranks of the raiders, due to the report of the scouts that 500 police with staves and 50 officers with revolvers were concentrated at a strategic point near the salt depot. The police had motor trucks, indicating they planned to arrest the entire band.

The police had been busy all day arresting demonstrators, most of them preparing for raids, and charged them with unlawful assembly in prohibited areas.
Two hundred and twenty-four volunteers were arrested at Dharasana, 200 at Belgum and many others were injured when police forcibly dispersed a group attempting to raid the Shiroda salt depot in the Ratnagar district, and others seized in isolated raids by the police.

"Joan" Returns.
Although Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, the "Joan of Arc" of the independence movement, returned here today and said there was "nothing for me to do at Dharasana" where her raid was blocked by police, the members of her camp continued their attacks on the salt works at Dharasana.

The raiders marched out from the former camp of Mrs. Naidu, but again were halted on the road to the Dharasana depot, where police and volunteers faced each other in the dusty roadway, both refusing to move. A second group of volunteers from the camp made their way close to the salt depot in the afternoon, and prepared to wait for an opportunity to raid tomorrow.

Other groups were moving about in the hot sun for the same purpose, and the arrest of many of their numbers did not discourage them.

DANIELS HITS HOOVER AS "WET"

DALLAS, Tex., May 17.—UP—A charge that President Hoover and his administration is "wet" was made here today by Josephus Daniels, secretary of the Navy under President Woodrow Wilson.

Daniels' assertion was made in connection with a statement on the candidacy of Dwight W. Morrow for the Republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey.

The former cabinet officer said Morrow's advocacy of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, made in an opening statement this week, was a plain indication of the administration's stand on prohibition.

"Hoover Wet"
"You know and I know that Hoover is wet—that he has been and still is," Daniels declared. "Morrow's announcement is the best straw thrown up yet to show which way the wind is blowing."

"Hoover and his noble experiment! That should have been sufficient warning to the people. It wasn't. Then the announcement of Dwight Morrow should be."

The statement indicated an association of ideas between the president and Morrow by pointing out that the latter is "in high favor in administration circles."

Was Envoy
Morrow was appointed by Hoover as ambassador to Mexico.

Daniels, a leading advocate of prohibition, is here as a delegate to the convention of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The statement urged prohibitionists not to lose sight of "the fact they are facing an administration with a wet leader."

Daniels said wet advocates seemed to be having the best of the prohibition struggle at present but he did not anticipate any change in the dry laws if dries are alert to the situation.

"The president decided early that he would have to do something to make the dries believe the administration would enforce the liquor laws," the statement said.

Senses Defeat
"Hence the Wickersham commission and the crime commission, which has talked about nothing but prohibition."

The statement came during a discussion of prohibition among the conference delegates.

Daniels expressed a belief Morrow's declarations on prohibition were an evidence the ambassador realized "his weakness as a candidate in New Jersey."

"He sensed defeat," Daniels said, "unless he adopted a wet platform."

9000 men with an annual payroll of $13,000,000. Richmond is fortunate in being a city of so many diversified industries so that a lessening of the activities in one industry does not paralyze the community. Our payrolls are well balanced throughout the year giving our citizens a steady prosperity.

"Our schools, churches, libraries, recreation centers, etc. reflect great credit upon the enterprise and management of the people of Richmond, and have kept pace with our industrial growth."

"We look forward to a tremendous increase in our population in the near future, and have every reason to believe that we are about to cash in on the constructive community work that has been carried on during the last few years."

Just a word as to the method of operation in Richmond. The whole community program is conducted on a cooperative basis with the city government of Richmond and the chamber of commerce working hand in hand. Every movement for the development of the city receives the close scrutiny of the directors of both these organizations. As a result of this fine spirit of cooperation we have been able to develop our harbor, build wharf and warehouses and attract new industries. Without increased shipping the actual tonnage for the waterborne commerce of Richmond for the year 1929 was 7,569,316 tons. We were a careful investigation of Richmond's advantages by all manufacturers who may be seeking a "traffic" location."

FRESNO.—In this matter of the world's biggest household cat, Mrs. H. J. Mandell of Fresno disputes the claim of Mrs. Hilda I. Townsend of Ogden, Utah, to owning the champion.

Mrs. Townsend's tabby weighs 24 pounds according to press dispatches.

When Mrs. Mandell placed her 8 year old Blonny—a cat as black as a ton of soot—on the scales, the pointer flipped around to 25 1-2 pounds.

Among the scores that plodded over muddy lanes to witness the latest spectacle of the feline field was Claude T. Sigmon who had visions of leaving his large furniture business to younger men. When Sigmon came here ten years ago he purchased a tract in the field which now promises to be one of the richest leases in the prized area.
